HERRIN WAS STORM-TOSSED

Gigantic waves engulfed the big steam tanker W. F. Herrin on the voyage from Port San Luis to Honolulu for a period of several days causing a delay of twenty-four hours in the arrival of the Associated Oil Company vessel.

Captain G. B. Macdonald, master of the steamer declared this morning that the weather was "simply rotten."

The W. F. Herrin was nine days in making the islands. The tanker brings fifty thousand barrels fuel oil for the local plant of the Associated. It is the present intention to dispatch the vessel for a return trip to the Coast on Sunday evening.

While seas swept the decks and water surged over the vessel from stem to stern, no damage was reported by the officers on their arrival this morning.

For the purpose of making it possible for them to use their invaluable experience for the public good, Andrew Carnegie proposes to offer all future former presidents of the United States a pension of $25,000 annually.

With a view to the betterment of the Palama district, the Palama Improvement Club, an organization recently formed by a number of social workers and residents of that locality, held its second meeting last Thursday evening at the settlement with a large attendance.

The meeting was presided over by Harry Auld, president of the club, and the reading and discussing of various reports took up the greater part of the time. J. C. Lane, chairman of the membership committee, reported that to date there are ninety-two members in the organization, which entitles the club to send five representatives, including the president, to the meetings of the Central Improvement Committee. The treasurer, S. K. Fukimura, reported that he had collected dues to the amount of eighteen dollars from the various members, and also told of a few minor expenses that have been incurred by the club.

An amendment of the by-laws was passed making the yearly dues to the club fifty cents. A report of the executive committee was then made concerning the appointment of chairmen of the different committees. James A. Rath was appointed chairman for the committee on roads, sewers, water supply and lights; P. L. Horne, of the committee on schools; S. K. Fukimura, of the committee on tenements and public health; Mrs. H. Webb, of the committee on parks and playgrounds, and Spencer Bowen, of the committee on membership. The selection of members to serve on these various committees was left to the executive committee which is composed of Harry Auld, president; J. C. Lane, vice president; Spencer Bowen, secretary; S. K. Fukimura, treasurer; P. L. Horne, James A. Rath and Noah Aluli. The delegates to the Central Committee are James A. Rath, J. C. Lane, S. K. Fukimura, Noah Aluli and Harry Auld.

After the committees had been appointed, the next business came up in the form of remarks from the different members present in regard to the improvements which were needed throughout the Palama district. One of the members made the statement that improvements in some of the lanes of the district should be improved in the matter of lights and paving. The subject as to the extension of School and Queen streets for the betterment of the district in general was brought up, and James Rath spoke on the cross streets between the main thoroughfares, bringing out the fact that the street should be opened up to clear up the various congested blocks. William Lane spoke to the effect that lights were needed along Auld Lane, and also of the mix-up of the mails on account of two Morris Lanes existing in the locality.

The question of opening up more playgrounds was brought up during the course of the discussion and it will be endeavored to get the support of the public in submitting an application to the city officials involving the ways and means to get property in the various parts of the district for these playgrounds. It was also decided that the club take up the matter of the conditions existing in the public schools with regard to overcrowding. At present there are so many pupils attending the schools that it has been found necessary to cut the regular sessions in two in order to accommodate them all, and this state of affairs will be looked into in regard to the advisability of securing more teachers.

ANOTHER CAUCUS FOR TOMORROW

Another caucus of the Democratic officers-to-be will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the assembly room of the city hall tomorrow morning. These conferences have progressed so far now that it is probable the caucus tomorrow will decide finally upon the budget for the coming year, and will also appoint a number of committees to take up the work of appointment in the various departments. One of these appointments will be that of chief of the fire department. The opposition to Charles Thurston is said to be growing stronger daily in the Democratic ranks, and the pressure that Link McCandless and his satellite, Soapbox Barron, are bringing to bear upon the future city fathers has weakened the support the present head of the department has heretofore received.
